Black Panther Tells It Like It Is

U.F.A.F. WOMENS PANEL:

ROBERTA ALEXANDER AT CONFERENCE

I would like to start by saying that we are all sisters, that there is a struggle going on right now. Our topic today is to talk about women versus fascism, the role of women in the movement.

There was some confusion about the term "fascism," and I would like to address myself briefly to that confusion. I think it's significant. First of all, there is a struggle going on in the Black Panther Party. A lot of people are not aware of what's happening in the Black Panther Party amongst the women's question, and we are going to talk about this today.

Committee. They're adding to the confusion of the people and the Black Panther Party now faces the necessity of standing up and saying, "Yes, we're going to talk about the women in the struggle.

The "women's" question is not a separate issue. It is a part of the struggle for freedom for all people. The Black Panther Party is working to empower women in this country, and the struggle is not over. We have to be united and prepared to fight this battle.

The time is now. We have to limit our thinking as much as possible between the movement and the struggle. I would like to see the two sides of this struggle working together in the party.

VICTIM OF FASCIST TERROR SPEAKS

Chairman Bobby with S.F. State Student, McAllister

I want to start by saying that fascism is here in this country today. I can see it happening now. I'm thinking of the feeling we have not learned and can't tell you what they feel, but I think what happened to you can happen to any of us. What happened to me did not happen to me. But I would like to see a full discussion about what we are going to do and what we are going to do in the future.
A JAPANESE AMERICAN SPEAKS OUT AGAINST FASCISM

PENNY NAKATSU

A Japanese American speaks out against fascism.

On the question of whether the enemy in Japan is the militaristic or the non-militaristic, as a Japanese woman, I can speak with the fullest of the having been in an American prison, I can speak with the fullest voice the Japanese fighting people, the Japanese fighting women, the Japanese fighting soldiers, the Japanese fighting sailors, and the Japanese fighting civilians.

I would like to share with you the story of my family, who were forced to leave their homes in California during World War II. My father, a Japanese American, was arrested and interned in a concentration camp. My mother and I were sent to a different camp. We were separated from my father for over a year. This experience was traumatic for all of us.

I believe that the Japanese American community must stand together against fascism. We must work towards a world where all people are treated with dignity and respect. We must fight for a future where our children can live free from the fear of discrimination and violence.

Oscar Rios of Los Siete Speaks at UAF Conference

Brother Newell, let's begin by introducing ourselves. We are members of the Los Siete, a group of people who have been arrested and detained for their political activities.

We are here to tell you about our experiences and to share our stories with you. We are here to demand justice and to demand freedom for all political prisoners.

In our country, we have seen the atrocities committed by the government against our people. We have seen the violence and repression directed against us. We have seen the lies and the propaganda used to justify these actions.

We are here to say that we are not afraid. We are not afraid to speak out. We are not afraid to stand up for what is right. We are not afraid to fight for our rights.

We are here to ask for your support. We are here to ask for your help. We are here to ask for your solidarity.

Thank you.
