BLACK LEADERS MUDDY MIDDLE EAST WATERS

The statement urging Hill U.S. support for Israel, including jet aircraft, signed by a coalition of 30 black leaders, which appeared as an advertisement in the recent Sunday editions of The New York Times and the Washington Post, represents a case of either stupidity or duplicity on the part of most of those leaders, who are certainly ignorant of the issues involved in the Middle East crisis, and the others, particularly the six black congressmen and two black senators, who without even caring about the fate, perfunctorily signed the statement to satisfy the Jewish constituents in their districts, where few of us Arabs can expect political reprisals.

We know of no small Black minority who feels that the "Middle East crisis is fundamentally a racial conflict between non-white Arabs and white Israelis." It is recognized that the major principals in the Middle East crisis are all white people. To bring in the Arab that Israel should be supported because of the "GHQ presence of Black Americans by the Lebanese government," which in turn is militarily allied and assisted by the Egyptian government," is also sheer dishonesty.

While Dr. Martin Anderson said that the statement was ""an extraordinary moral and political neglect,"" Bernard Stern, executive director of the A. Philip Randolph Institute, sponsor of the statement, noted that ""the overwhelming Jewish vote for Basil Paterson in the New York primary election and the sharing of this advertisement by so many important Black leaders to denounce that a traditional Negro-Jewish alliance for social justice still prevails,"" revealing the true motive behind the Black advertisement.

If the $9,000 to $10,000 required for these advertisements was paid for by the Black leaders, their money could more usefully have been spent in the struggle for Black liberation in America. However, in the event the ads were subsidized by non-Blacks, then these 30 individuals described as ""Black leaders"" have become tools in the worldwide propaganda campaign of thehawks in the Golda Meir regime in Israel.

As in Vietnam, a solution of the Middle East crisis can only be found on a political rather than military basis. There are many progressive forces in Israel who are organizing and increasingly opposing the present Israeli Government's war policies.

The statement of the Good Book, ""He who loves his soul shall lose it by the sword,"" should have more than trite meaning for Israel.

The basic cause of the recurring crisis in the Middle East are the increasing expansionistic policy of every Israeli government, the increasing threat of Israel to claim as its ""natural"" right the area of Palestine, and its determination to impose on the Arab people the 20-year-old demand of the United Nations for a settlement of the Arab refugee problem.

Thus the final up until this tour to accept the U.N. Security Council resolution of November 29, 1947, contributes to the ongoing crisis. This resolution demands (1) the withdrawal from all occupied territories resolled from the June, 1967, war; (2) establishment of a just peace based on the right of Israel to exist in...
Major Public Utilities Sued

By Shoshi Dafaal

Six major Black, Latino and Vietnamese banks in California were deman-ded an investigation of discriminatory employment practices at all regulated utilities and railroads in the state of California. The banks represent 12 million California residents, or about 16% of the state's population. The banks are Home Savings of California, Pacific Telephone of California, Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Pacific Union Pacific Railroad Co., Southern Pacific Railroad Co., and the Western Union. They were subpoenaed by the California Public Utilities Commission. The subpoenas were served on the banks on May 15, 1979. This is the first time that the Commission has ever subpoenaed a bank to produce documents related to employment discrimination. The subpoenas require the banks to produce all documents related to their employment practices, including hiring practices, compensation policies, and any other information that might be relevant to the investigation. The subpoenas affect all employees of the banks, including officers, directors, and employees. The banks have 30 days to respond to the subpoenas. The investigation will be conducted by the Commission's staff, who will review the documents and determine whether the banks have engaged in discriminatory employment practices. The results of the investigation will be made public. The investigation is part of a larger initiative by the Commission to address the issue of employment discrimination in California. Other initiatives include the creation of a Task Force on Employment Discrimination and the passage of the California Fair Employment Practices Act. The banks have the right to appeal the subpoenas if they disagree with the Commission's decision. However, the banks have not yet indicated whether they will appeal the subpoenas. The investigation is expected to take several months to complete. The results of the investigation will be used to determine whether the banks have engaged in discriminatory employment practices. The results will also be used to develop strategies to address the problem of employment discrimination in California. The investigation is important because it will provide evidence of the extent of discrimination in California's banking industry. The investigation will also help to ensure that all employees are treated fairly and that the banks comply with their legal obligations.
"Separate, Independent And Free"

The Agenda For Black Liberation

Editor's Note: Many newspapers have been made about Cashion B. Goodlett's recent address to the National Educational Broadca rs Association Conference, calling for the establishment of a Black nation. The following article summarizes briefly the ideas presented.

During 307 years of cryptog

nization, Black people have repeatedly involved themselves in negotiations with the white nation for freedom and equality. The nightmare of white racism forces us to the conclusion that new directions and new plans must be undertaken for Black survival.

In our struggle for survival, Black people are faced with the choice of one of four alternatives: (1) Passive participation in the revolution of the masses against a racist nation-state and a racial establishment. (2) Complete as-silation into the white-majority body of the nation. Thus, existing in the shadow of the nation, the Black man is White America, struggling from time to time to force the whole nation to redistriute recreation of a new society on an equal footing. (3) curry, the housing of a Black nation-state, based on separation, a Decleration of Independcence, and freedom; occupation of a land mass within the geography of the United States by a Black sovereignty.

Black student unions in their nationalistic revolt against white in their higher education were correct in their nomogagogical design. Freedom, equality, and self-determination can never be separated. Black people must make a choice to either live as free men or as domesticated colonists.

During the past two decades, a generation of Black students, a generation of Black intellectuals, has concluded that racist White America will never provide a Black land to go free. The WASP capitalistic system, per se, is not a system of freedom and equality.

A brief survey of "What is in Black America, and who are we?" should support our argument for separation as a first prerequisite for self-determination. We are a group of people distributed in approximately 4 of the 50 states; we are the most numerous, with the estimated population of 22 to 25 million, group of Black people in the nation in the world, with the exception of Nigeria. With 5,000 Black physicians, approximately 3,200 dentists and 1,000 attorneys, many thousands of elementary and secondary school teachers, and an increasing number of academicists, we are the most educated Black people in the world. Our 499,000 young Black people in institutions of higher learning exceed that of Britain by 33,000 youth. It is Cashion B. Goodlett estimated that our gross national product, while only 1 percent of the U.S. total, equals $5 billion a year, which is roughly three times the gross national product of Canada, and only $5 billion less than the gross national product of Britain. Under ordinary circumstances, we could be characterized as a privileged people, but in reality we remain slaves in a nation where we have entered physical slavery for 256 years, and our fate as Black colonists in White America is not in sight.

Briefly, the drama of Ghana's independence in 1957 illustrates the importance of a people occupying a land mass as the first prerequisite for sovereignty and self-determination. While Ghana's population numbered 5,000,000 blacks who occupied a land mass smaller than that of Ohio, New York, and California combined for our allegiance. This thesis is that self-determination and Black liberation require the establishment of a Black nation-state upon a portion of the land now occupied by the United States of America.

It is predicted that by 1980, all of America's 20 largest cities will be dominated by Blacks and will elect Black mayors. These Black city-states will not provide self-determination or Black liberation. Under our present system, permit self-determination for Blacks on any other basis

USA possesses per capita self-determination or permits power, which is in essence an determination and no power. The journey towards nation-statehood, of course, will be fraught with many, many difficulties. The important present task is for a strong action call by an emerging new Black leadership to combine the multiple Black manifestations for self-determination into a meaningful mosaic which spells separation and freedom.

A Black nation of 25 million, occupying a land mass, would find that only 25 nations in the world larger in population, and 55 nations would be smaller. Of the 53 nations on the continent of Africa, it would be smaller; only Nigeria (with 41 million) and the USSR (with 132,000,000) would be larger.

The superpowers with bidder-independence resulting in the establishment of Pakistan and Indo-

China, and the division of Czecho-

slavia into a nation of two people,

on the continent of Africa, it would be smaller; only Nigeria

(25 million) and the USSR

would be larger.

The superpowers with bidder-independence resulting in the establishment of Pakistan and Indo-

China, and the division of Czecho-

slavia into a nation of two people,

the recent establishment of the state in the islands of the Pacific represents the cri solvent of years of frustration and conflict, brought about by the dissolution of a minority people by an overwhelming majority.

If those who repeatedly threaten the call for Black libereration are serious in their argumentation, and do not plan to continue jaw-boning from one succinct of Black oppression to another, Black liberation must openly declare that the wave of the future and the ultimate solution of the cancerous problem of white racism lies in the establishment of the Black nation-state. Such an intelligent and courageous people will not only save White America from the cancer of racism, but also free Black America from the reality of domination.

The only true road to liberation for White America is to free the Black slaves so that through Black sovereignty and self-determination, true advancement of the society is possible.

Today, the serious question which should disturb our brethren is, whether our rhetoric for liberation will drift our capacity and encourage to end our freedom's struggles. Do we have the courage to serve the interests of Black America, or must we await the emergence of a Black spurres?

Soledad Inmates On Hunger Strike

Prisoners in the maximum security unit who have been on a hunger strike for six weeks to demand humane treatment and to show support for the so-called "Reds" of the Black Panthers, say they are not relaxing their protest. Three Black inmates accused of killing a prison guard. The strike, involving about 75 inmates, began with a demonstration July 7, during which inmates burned mailmatron letters and other objects on the yard.

The prisoners are asking for an end to "verbal and mental punishment and harassment," including the removal of protective suits and nighttime use of a security mesh known as "O wing," which is now being used as a holdover. Another demand is for better medical care and improved living conditions. A group of Black California legislators have posed at least two citizens killed in the incident, three others wounded and one officer injured. The incident is being investigated by the Los Angeles police department.

Youth Stabbed In Eye

A 2-year-old girl was held by a broken window in a "bonfire" under the right eye. The girl, identified as 60, was brought to the hospital by her father. The victim, a 44-year-old man, was stabbed in the stomach with a knife. A police officer was reported to have arrested the suspect.

CONCENTRATION CAMP

Growing interest has been noted in the concept of a "concentration camp," a term commonly used to describe prison-like facilities where prisoners are held under harsh conditions.

The concept of a concentration camp has been the subject of much debate and controversy. Some argue that it is an effective means of controlling criminals, while others believe it is a violation of human rights.

ATLANTA—These measures presently before the Senate of the United States "will give black people an indication of the amount of creeping Jim Crowism in America," Georgia State Rep. Julian Bond charged this week.

"Three provisions—juveniles dealing with "preventive detention," "emergency detention" and the "Civil Rights"—strike directly at the lives of black people at the present administration," Bond said. "Bonds are now premature.

"Preventive detention, Bond explained, would allow judges to deny bail for at least 30 days after a defendant in a civil rights trial is arrested. The program will begin in September.

Bond said United States Senate has refused to do no as several President Harry Truman sent it to the Senate in 1969.

"If Preventive Detention becomes law, it will make the emergency situation worse in the South," Bond said.

Huey Newton Free At Last

Huey Newton, minister of defense for the Black Panther Party, came home to Oakland Tuesday from the California State Prison at Los Angeles after being in custody there since 1968 for his role in the shooting death of Oakland police officer John L. Jewell. Newton had been held in Los Angeles for trial for the murder of Officer Jewell and the attempted murder of two other policemen.

Judge Henry B. Smith, who presided over the trial, announced last week that Newton had been found not guilty of murder and guilty of attempted murder. He was sentenced to serve a term of 12 years, but was released on $50,000 bail, the highest amount of the type that he has ever set in an attempted murder case.

Newton said that he was proud to be able to say that he had been found not guilty of murder. He added that he was looking forward to the day when he would be able to return to his family and to his work as a community leader.

End Sex, Race Discrimination, Goodlett Urge At Company Meet

A company meeting to discuss the issue of discrimination was held in the company's main office last week. The meeting was attended by employees of all races and both sexes, and was sponsored by the company's management.

At the meeting, company officials presented a proposal for the elimination of all forms of discrimination in the workplace. The proposal included the creation of a committee to monitor compliance with the new policy, as well as the establishment of a grievance procedure for employees who felt that they were being discriminated against.

The proposal was met with general approval by the attendees, who expressed their support for the company's efforts to create a more inclusive workplace. Several attendees also made suggestions for additional steps that the company could take to address the issue of discrimination.

Soledad 12 Now?

The Soledad 12 is a group of 12 individuals who were arrested in 1969 for their role in the Black Panther Party. The group was imprisoned at the Soledad Central Jail, where they were subjected to harsh conditions and denied access to legal counsel.

The group's case was eventually resolved in 1971, when the California Supreme Court ruled that the conditions at the jail were unconstitutional. The Soledad 12 were released shortly thereafter, and have since become an influential voice in the civil rights movement.

INTRODUCTION

Since the Priscilla murders西南 of Salt Lake in Butte County, California, the people of the area have been living in fear of a serial killer. The community has been on high alert, with increased police presence and heightened security measures. The fear and anxiety have spread throughout the community, affecting daily life and causing a sense of unease.

In early 1975, however, a murder committed in Salt Lake County has been the subject of intense media coverage. The murder of three Black teenagers, all of whom had ties to the local Black community, has raised questions about racism and prejudice.

The guard who shot them in the head said they were mistakenly identified as gang members. The victims were identified as Lawrence Johnson, 19, and two others, 17 and 18, whose names were not released.

Not a word about the violence of the police officer who shot the students. A note was found in the car of one of the students, but it was not read by the coroner or the district attorney.

After a brief inquiry, the coroner declared the death accidental.

A close relative of one of the victims said that he had been shot in the head.

The community is still struggling to come to terms with the senseless violence.

In the aftermath of the Priscilla murders, the community has been working to address the root causes of the violence. The police have been placed on high alert, with increased patrols and increased security measures.

The community is alive with concern and fear.
